

New Talent

New to the hospitality industry, Suna Interior Design, is a small and perfectly formed interior design consultancy, conveniently located in South London. Helen Fewster and Rebecca Tucker head up the company, having owned and directed it for the last 10 years.

Personable and highly committed to every detail of the design process, they are expanding their reach into the hospitality industry, translating their vast experience of creating polished penthouses, bespoke apartments, attractive public spaces, stunning show homes, and impressive marketing suites in central London and across the South. This experience of creating both public and personal spaces in large scale developments positions them perfectly for the needs of hotels, bars, restaurants and other hospitality spaces.

Driven by their urban target markets, they are sensitive to creating design and style to fit modern needs and desires, putting great importance on researching each new locality. They work closely and collaboratively with their clients on their design ideas, providing innovative solutions, constantly pushing the boundaries of functional design. They create contemporary and lifestyle affirming spaces and pride themselves on high quality finishes and their cultivation of long term client relationships. "We embrace the ideals of strong design ensuring every interior delivers unique results. Each project we work on is very much a product of our innovation, creativity and collaboration with the client" says Rebecca Tucker.

The small and enthusiastically committed team ensures that every part of the project receives the same high level of attention, from the very first point of contact, to the final delivery of their design. Their extensive experience with volume project management and design schemes, working alongside architects and contractors, makes them agile and adept designers. "Design is a passion and this enthusiasm should be conveyed right from the source, not via an account handler or a detached third party" says Helen Fewster. "I want our clients to feel that we are facilitators for their dreams and expectations"

Suna have enjoyed being invited to speak at conferences and are regularly asked to provide their input to leading interior magazines and panels. Their work has seen them win many awards, to see details of these awards and high quality portfolios of their work, visit www.sunainteriorsdesign.com
